ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A computer which processes an interrupt is provided in which the computer includes a data holding part which holds data at a time when an interrupt starts to occur while an instruction in a program is executed. The data is used for recovery from the interrupt.